

Effective Anti Racist Youth Work: Delivering for Young Black People in Scotland

Friday, 23 November 2007

9.30am–4.30pm

STUC, 333 Woodlands Road, Glasgow

This is a free conference for youth workers or people who work with young people. This will be the first step in what we hope will become an ongoing dialogue on how well youth work delivers for young black people in Scotland. Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

With Keynote addresses from:

- Fiona Hyslop MSP Cabinet Secretary for Education and Lifelong Learning (to be confirmed)
- Professor Howard Sercombe, Community Education Division, Strathclyde University
- Momodou Sallah and Carlton Howson, Senior Lectures, Youth and Community Division, De Montfort University
- Anne Marie Lawson, Experienced Youth Work Practitioner

Workshops will take place in both the morning and afternoon. The titles will include:

- Can white youth workers effectively meet the needs of young Black people?
- Working with Black young people: A historical perspective
- Dealing with racism in a youth work setting
- Why engage young Black people through youth work?
- Effective anti racist campaigning in the youth work setting – beyond the multicultural fashion show
- A youth perspective on racism and anti racism
- Service provision
- How well is the youth work sector engaging with young Black women?
